Deanie believes providing exceptional service takes getting to know your clients. According to Deanie, "It is my responsibility to provide the best possible solutions for my clients. It is important to profoundly understand the unique needs and circumstances of each client to best serve their interests." One of Deanie's key strengths is consulting with businesses and organizations to assure they are running smoothly. For her it is about "building a well-oiled machine with multiple parts and making it all come together. That is what drives me."

Deanie has practiced law in Arizona since 1977. She was in-house corporate counsel for AG Communication Systems Corporation and Lucent Technologies, Inc. from 1996-2003, where she created and monitored business agreements, oversaw employment and benefit procedures and policies, managed litigation, and acted as the export compliance officer for high-technology products. Before that, she served as Prescott Valley Town Attorney and as a criminal prosecutor.
